A BILL

To allow Americans to earn paid sick time so that they can address their own health needs and the health needs of their families.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Healthy Families Act”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Working people need time to meet their own health care needs and to care for family members. The absence of paid sick time has forced working people to make untenable choices between needed income and jobs on the one hand and caring for their own and their family’s health on the other. It is in the national interest to ensure that all working people can care for their own health and the health of their families while prospering at work.

(2) Twenty-nine percent of the private sector workforce and 9 percent of the public sector workforce lack paid sick time. Millions more theoretically... have access to sick time, but have not been on the job long enough to use it. Millions more lack sick time they can use to care for a sick child or ill family member.

(3) Working people without paid sick days are more likely to go to work sick and delay or forgo needed health care. A 2016 study in the journal Health Affairs found that working adults without paid sick days are 3 times more likely to forgo medical care for themselves, and 1.6 times more likely to forgo medical care for their family, compared to working adults with paid sick days. Lack of paid sick days is also a barrier to receiving annual health screenings and preventive care, according to a 2017 study in the American Journal of Nursing.

(4) Nearly 1 in 4 parents without paid sick time reports sending a sick child to school or child care because the parent has to go to work. When children go to school and child care sick, they risk their own health and that of other children, teachers, and administrators. Research suggests that schools play a key role in transmitting contagious illnesses like influenza.

(5) A 2012 study published in the American Journal of Public Health found that a lack of workplace policies like paid sick days contributed to an additional 5,000,000 cases of influenza-like illness during the H1N1 pandemic of 2009.

(6) A National Bureau of Economic Research analysis examining influenza rates following the implementation of comprehensive paid sick time laws in 7 major cities in the United States found that when workers gained access to paid sick time in those cities, the general influenza rate in the population decreased by 5.5 to 6.5 percent. This analysis estimates that those laws helped prevent about 100 influenza-like infections per week for every 100,000 people.

(7) Paid sick days contribute to more cost-effective use of health care resources. A 2011 study by the Institute for Women’s Policy Research found that a universal paid sick days policy would reduce preventable visits to the emergency room and result in cost savings of $1,100,000,000 per year, including $500,000,000 in savings for public health insurance programs like Medicare and Medicaid.

(8) The American Productivity Audit completed in 2003 found that lost productivity due to illness costs $226,000,000,000 ($308,000,000,000 in 2019 dollars) annually, and that 71 percent of that cost stems from presenteeism—the practice of employees coming to work while ill. Studies in the Journal of Occupational and Environmental Medicine and the Journal of the American Medical Association show that presenteeism is a larger productivity drain than either absenteeism or short-term disability.

(9) Working while sick also increases a worker’s probability of suffering an injury on the job. A 2012 study published by the American Journal of Public Health found that workers with access to paid sick leave were 28 percent less likely than workers without paid sick leave to suffer nonfatal occupational injuries.

(10) Workers’ access to paid sick time varies dramatically by wage level, as demonstrated by the following:

(A) For private sector workers—

(i) for workers in the lowest quartile of earners, 55 percent lack paid sick time;

(ii) for workers in the next 2 quartiles, 27 and 17 percent, respectively, lack paid sick time; and

(iii) even for workers in the highest quartile, 10 percent lack paid sick time.

(B) For public sector workers—
(i) for workers in the lowest quartile of earners, 21 percent lack paid sick time;
(ii) for workers in the next 2 quartiles, 5 and 3 percent, respectively, lack paid sick time; and
(iii) for workers in the highest quartile, 5 percent lack paid sick time.

(11) Workers’ access to paid sick days also varies depending on their occupation and race. For example, more than 80 percent of workers in food preparation and serving occupations lack access to paid sick days, compared to only 23 percent of workers in management occupations. More than half of Latino workers and nearly half of Native American or Alaskan Native workers do not have access to paid sick days, compared to nearly 40 percent of White and Black workers.

(12) According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, more than 1 in 3 women and more than 1 in 4 men in America report having experienced rape, physical abuse, or some form of unwanted sexual contact at some point in their lives. Women and men of color are even more likely to report being impacted by intimate partner violence. Too many people, and especially women, are forced to risk losing their jobs or critical income when they need to take time away from work to address domestic-violence-related issues, such as obtaining a restraining order or finding housing, in order to avoid or prevent physical or sexual abuse.

(13) Without paid sick time that can be used to address the effects of domestic violence, these victims are in grave danger of losing their jobs. In a 2018 survey of domestic violence survivors, nearly 3/4 (73 percent) reported that financial problems forced them to remain with their abusers longer than they wanted or to return to their abusers after having left, and more than half (53 percent) said they lost a job because of the abuse. The loss of employment can be particularly devastating for victims of domestic violence, who often need economic security to ensure safety.

(14) The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has estimated that intimate partner violence costs over $700,000,000 annually due to the victims’
lost productivity in employment.

(15) A 2018 study published in the American Journal of Orthopsychiatry found that workers without paid sick leave benefits have higher levels of psychological distress and are 1.45 times more likely to report that their distress symptoms interfere “a lot” with their daily life activities.

(16) Efforts to assist abused employees result in positive outcomes for employers as well as employees because employers can retain workers who might otherwise be compelled to leave.

(17) Dozens of States, cities, and localities have or will soon have paid sick time laws in place and evidence shows that those laws are working well for workers, businesses, and the economy.

(18) A 2009 study by the Center for Economic and Policy Research found that, of 22 countries with comparable economies, the United States was 1 of only 3 countries that did not provide any paid time off for workers with short-term illnesses.

SEC. 3. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this Act are—

(1) to ensure that working people can address their own health needs and the health needs of their families by requiring employers to permit employees to earn up to 56 hours of paid sick time including paid time for family care;

(2) to diminish public and private health care costs by enabling workers to seek early and routine health care for themselves and their family members;
(3) to assist employees who are, or whose family members are, victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, by providing the employees with paid time away from work to allow the victims to receive treatment and to take the necessary steps to ensure their protection;

(4) to address the historical and persistent widespread pattern of employment discrimination on the basis of gender by both private and public sector employers;

(5) to accomplish the purposes described in paragraphs (1) through (4) in a manner that is feasible for employers; and

(6) consistent with the provision of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution relating to equal protection of the laws, and pursuant to Congress’ power to enforce that provision under section 5 of that Amendment—

(A) to accomplish the purposes described in paragraphs (1) through (4) in a manner that minimizes the potential for employment discrimination on the basis of sex by ensuring generally that paid sick time is available for eligible medical reasons on a gender-neutral basis; and

An employer shall not be required to permit an employee to earn, under this section, more than 56 hours of paid sick time in a year, unless the employer chooses to set a higher limit.

(7) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring financial or other reimbursement to an employee from an employer upon the employee’s termination, resignation, retirement, or other separation from employment for earned paid sick time that has not been used.

(8) REINSTATEMENT.—If an employee is separated from employment with an employer and is rehired, within 12 months after that separation, by the same employer, the employer shall reinstate the em-

(d) PROCEDURES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Paid sick time shall be provided upon the oral or written request of an employee. Such request shall—

(A) include the expected duration of the period of such time;

(B) in a case in which the need for such period of time is foreseeable at least 7 days in advance of such period, be provided at least 7 days in advance of such period; and

(C) otherwise, be provided as soon as practicable after the employee is aware of the need for such period.

(2) CERTIFICATION IN GENERAL.—

(A) PROVISION.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (C), an employer may require that a request for paid sick time under this section for a purpose described in paragraph (1), (2), or (3) of subsection (b) be supported by a certification issued by the health care provider of the eligible employee or of an individual described in subsection (b)(3), as appropriate, if the period of such time covers more than 3 consecutive workdays.

(ii) Timeliness.—The employee shall provide a copy of such certification to the employer in a timely manner, not later than 30 days after the first day of the period of time. The employer shall not delay the commencement of the period of time on the basis that the employer has not yet received the certification.

(B) Sufficient Certification.—

(i) In General.—A certification provided under subparagraph (A) shall be sufficient if it states—

(I) the date on which the period
of time will be needed;

(II) the probable duration of the period of time;

(III) the appropriate medical facts within the knowledge of the health care provider regarding the condition involved, subject to clause (ii); and

cally necessary;

(bb) for purposes of such time under subsection (b)(2), the dates on which testing for a medical diagnosis or care is expected to be given and the duration of such testing or care; and

(cc) for purposes of such time under subsection (b)(3), in the case of time to care for someone who is not a child, a statement that care is needed for an individual described in such subsection, and an estimate of the amount of time that such care is needed for such individual.

(ii) LIMITATION.—In issuing a certification under subparagraph (A), a health care provider shall make reasonable efforts to limit the medical facts described in clause (i)(III) that are disclosed in the cer-tification to the minimum necessary to es-

establish a need for the employee to utilize paid sick time.

(C) REGULATIONS.—Regulations prescribed under section 14 shall specify the manner in which an employee who does not have health insurance shall provide a certification for purposes of this paragraph.

strued to require a health care provider to disclose information in violation of section

1320d–6) or the regulations promulgated pursuant to section 264(c) of the Health employee as described in subsection (b)(3), such information shall—

(I) be maintained on a separate form and in a separate file from other personnel information;

(II) be treated as a confidential medical record; and

(III) not be disclosed except to the affected employee or with the permission of the affected employee.

(3) Certification in the case of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking.—

(A) In general.—An employer may require that a request for paid sick time under this section for a purpose described in subsection (b)(4) be supported by any one of the following forms of documentation, but the employer may not specify the particular form of documentation to be provided:

(i) A police report indicating that the employee, or a member of the employee’s family described in subsection (b)(4), was a victim of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking.
(ii) A court order protecting or separating the employee or a member of the employee’s family described in subsection (b)(4) from the perpetrator of an act of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, or other evidence from the court or prosecuting attorney that the employee or a member of the employee’s family described in subsection (b)(4) has appeared in court or is scheduled to appear in court in a proceeding related to domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking.

(iii) Other documentation signed by an employee or volunteer working for a victim services organization, an attorney, a police officer, a medical professional, a social worker, an antiviolence counselor, or a member of the clergy, affirming that the employee or a member of the employee’s family described in subsection (b)(4) is a victim of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking.

(i) subclauses (III) and (IV) of subparagraph (B)(i) and subparagraph (B)(ii) of such paragraph shall not apply;

(ii) the certification shall state the reason that the leave is required with the facts to be disclosed limited to the minimum necessary to establish a need for the employee to be absent from work, and the employee shall not be required to explain the details of the domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking involved; and

(iii) with respect to confidentiality under subparagraph (D) of such paragraph, any information provided to the employer under this paragraph shall be confidential, except to the extent that any disclosure of such information is—
